LAKE VILLA IS COUNTY CHAMPIONS

Defeats Antioch in Fifth Game of Series at "W" Park Sunday

ANTIOCH BESTS GIANTS

After losing the first two games of its series with Antioch Lake Villa came through the opposition like a steam-roller over egg shells and took three straight. Sunday's battle at "W" park proved that the 1922 champs were able to repeat for the 1923 honors to the tune of 3 to 1.

Bixby was the strong man for Lake Villa, holding the Antioch outfit to seven scattered hits while his teammates amassed 11 bingles off the offerings of southpaw Jess Davison.

Lake Villa scored three runs in the sixth inning and then locked the bank. Ahlstrom singled and was followed by Winters who also socked a wallop sending Ahlstrom another lap ahead. Sorenson beat out a bunt. Lux hit a ground to Davison and almost got safe when the pellet jumped over the latter's head. Stanzack, however, made a neat play and caught Lux on first. Ahlstrom, in the meantime, had scored with the first run. Davison then uncorked a wild pitch and allowed Winters to romp home. Hollstein came through with the final hit of the inning and scored Sorenson.

Kingsley walked to start Antioch's rally. He was followed by Stanzack with another free ticket. Dack went out, Davison whiffed, but Gross slammed out a hit and brought Kingsley in. Kerns fied out.

The game was full of thrills and kept the fans on edge throughout. About a thousand were present to watch the hostilities. Antioch's base running and what some called "hard luck" was responsible for the defeat. Gross was hit by a batted ball in the ninth inning when he was racing to third with the tying run, while Dack another Antioch man, was hit by a batted ball in the fifth inning.

Lake Villa, however, had the edge in fielding and hitting, and deserved the victory.

On Monday (Labor Day) afternoon Antioch had a close call when the Hartford Giants of Chicago outplayed them for eight innings, only to lose by a 3 to 2 score.

The colored boys put across one run in the first inning and another in the sixth, while Covell, the diminutive colored twirler practically had the Antioch batters at his mercy. In the seventh inning Kerns walked and advanced to third on two outs that followed. Kingsley hit a grounder to the shortstop and threw in plenty of time for the out, but the first baseman dropped the ball and Kerns tallied the first score.

In the eighth the colored boys had the game well in hand, but for a prize "boner" on the part of the visiting catcher. Bailey reached first base via the walk route, Kingsley took three healthy swings for the third out, but the catcher dropped the ball and picked it up again and started for the bench without making the necessary throw to first to retire the batsman. The umpire called Kingsley out and a big argument started which lasted for twenty minutes until a rule book was secured and the dispute settled. While the argument was in progress Bailey took third and Kingsley second. The umpire changed his decision when shown the rule whereby Kingsley had a right to try for first on a third strike with two out. Dack was the next man up and with Bailey on third and Kingsley on second, the score 2-1 against them and two out he came across handsomely when he clouted a long drive over the left fielders' head for two bases and two runs and the game.

Antioch could only get four hits off Covell, while the colored boys registered eight safe ones off Bronkie.

Lake Villa showed that it could win exhibition battles with Antioch as well as regular ones when it took a 6 to 5 battle at the Fair grounds Saturday afternoon. Lake Villa bunched its tallies in the first and eighth innings, but outside of those two

20 Years Ago in Antioch

Thursday, September 3, 1903

Walter Taylor was a county seat visitor Tuesday.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Runyard, Sunday, Aug. 30, a baby girl.

Homer Stevens of Waukegan is visiting relatives and friends here this week.

Miss Hattie Shulke of Lake Villa visited her parents and other Antioch friends over Sunday.

Miss Libbie Webb left on Monday for Waukegan where she has decided to take course of study at Carroll College.

Frank Haycock, who is connected with the Erie railroad in Chicago, was visiting his parents and calling on Antioch friends over Sunday.

H. B. Pierce returned last week from his trip to Oklahoma and is delighted with the future of the country. While there he placed an order for two carloads of shade trees which will be shipped about Oct. 1. Mr. Pierce believes this is the first order for Illinois trees by any nurseryman, and he is to be congratulated upon his early entering so prosperous a field.

Miss Smith of Chicago is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Morley.

Mrs. Charles Holmes of Chicago is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Drury, this week.

Harvey Watson of Chicago visited with his mother and called on Antioch friends the forepart of the week.

Wrestles Bull At County Fair; Sent to Jail

Leslie Owings, employe of the Dering farm at Lake Villa, may not have been the biggest man at the Lake County Fair at Libertyville but some of his undertakings would have placed Houdini himself.

Strengthened by four drinks of a strange concoction labelled as liquor the farmer strutted about the fair grounds trying right jabs, left swings and upper-cuts on whomsoever stepped in his path. He was feeling strong. In fact, one policeman and two citizens were in danger when they came in contact with his sweeping arms.

Western cowboys might have delighted in one of the closing rounds as Owings pursued by a deputy sheriff and several other officers leaped into an exhibition tent where there were several prize bulls.

He caught one of the largest by the horns and proceeded to execute a flying tackle. The bull was just dropping to his knees when Deputy Sheriff Lester Tiffany joined Policeman Gillis of Waukegan and several others who sought to take the man into custody.

Owings let the bull loose and he swept out with his powerful hands. Policeman Gillis tripped and was kicked in the side by a nearby bull. He was not injured.

Deputy Tiffany was forced to hit Owings with his club before the latter was arrested. He fought all the way to the county jail.

Cement Road South of Town Is Completed

Work of concreting Lake Villa-Antioch road by Contractor George R. Wade was completed Saturday, it was announced by Charles E. Russell, county superintendent of highways.

This was the section which the bonding company took over because Contractor Wade was unable to complete the work inside of the time limit. The bonding company permitted Mr. Wade to complete the work under their supervision.

The road will be open to traffic in about three weeks.

frames, did not have much of a look-in on the scoring.

Antioch barely missed tying the score in the last of the ninth. With two on base and three runs behind, Bailey slammed the ball to the race track and drove the two men ahead of him. He was caught at the plate trying to stretch the triple into a homer. Much howling accompanied the decision which was a close one.

Antioch started its fireworks at the latter part of the game, scoring in the sixth, seventh and ninth inning.

Woman's Club Town Members Are Entertained

The benefit card party given last Friday at the Channel Lake Country Club, under the auspices of the non-resident members of the Antioch Woman's Club, was a most pronounced success. One hundred ladies participated in the games of bridge and 500, and nine prizes, all of which were donated, were awarded the successful players. An added feature was the serving of sandwiches, cake and coffee, also donated by the non-resident members, which made occasion seem quite like a real party. It was with much satisfaction that the ladies were able to turn over $60.00 to the Womans Club for the benefit of the Boy Scouts and the Antioch Public Library.

The weekly card parties which have been held at the Country Club each Tuesday during the season will be continued until Sept. 11th, and longer is feasible, and the Saturday night dances will also continue through the month.

DOROTHY S. TECKERT PASSES AWAY FRIDAY

Dorothy Sophia Teckert, daughter of August and Augusta Teckert, was born in Kenosha, Wisconsin, October 23, 1897, and departed this life in the same city on August 31, 1923, aged 25 years (10 months and 8 days).

When Dorothy was a tiny infant, the family left Kenosha and moved to a farm where she grew up amid the attractive scenes and the busy toil of farm life. This was near Pikeville Corners, between Bristol and Antioch. After fifteen years there they went to live near Loon Lake for some six years, coming from there to Antioch, which has been the family home during the four years since. Dorothy lived here with the family for about two years, leaving for Kenosha to work, where she has been the greater part of the time the past two years.

About two weeks ago she was taken ill, and after a few days came home expecting to stay for a time. A few days later she became worse and returned to Kenosha to go to the hospital, where the illness terminated fatally last Friday morning.

In her earlier life she attended the Methodist church near Pikeville, and in Kenosha has been a member and regular attendant upon the services of the Lutheran church when convenient.

She is survived by her father and mother, five sisters and three brothers, all living near Antioch and present at the funeral except the oldest sister and the younger brother, both of whom live in Oregon.

The remains were brought from Kenosha to Antioch on Saturday afternoon and the funeral was held at the Methodist church in Antioch at 2:30 P. M. on Sunday in charge of Manly J. Mumford, pastor of the church. Interment was made in Antioch cemetery.

FINED $20 FOR DRIVING UPON FRESH HIGHWAY

J. Leider, Chicago, was arrested Friday night on a charge of having driven on the fresh concrete road at Loon Lake. He was taken to the court of Justice Harry Hoyt in Waukegan and was fined $20 and costs. He paid the fine and was released.

Grade School Is Opened with Full Enrolment

The Grade School opened Tuesday morning for the 1923-24 term with 154 pupils enrolled.

The primary department is filled to capacity, fifty little people from our own district being enrolled in the first and second grades. This unusually large number makes it impossible to accept first or second graders from outlying districts.

Miss Tibbitts has an enrollment of thirty-five pupils in the third and fourth grades; Mrs. Garland, thirty-three pupils in the fifth and sixth grades. In the grammar grades there are thirty-six enrolled.

The text books in use last year are again recommended in the county course of study with but slight changes. The fourth grade will use "The Land of Health" (Winslow) as a text in physiology. Mace's "Elementary History" is to be supplanted by "Hero Tales From History" in the fifth grade and "The Making of Our Country" will be used as a history text in the seventh grade, it being a far superior work to Montgomery's "American History," which has been used in the county for a number of years. Both new works in history are by Smith Barnham.

The teaching staff is as follows: D. L. McTaggart, 7th and 8th grades.

Mrs. George Garland, 5th and 6th grades; Miss Thelma Tibbitts, 7th and 4th grades; Mrs. Charles Lux, 1st and 2nd grades.

BOARD ADVISES WITH ATTORNEY RUNYARD

The village board at its meeting Tuesday night was enlightened by the village attorney, Eugene Runyard, on matters pertaining to the village's indebtedness. Mr. Runyard was of the opinion that the village could place a bond issue. The matter was discussed and it is probable that it might be put up to the residents of the village.

Taxation or licensing of out of town taxis doing business in the village was taken up with the attorney and he expressed the opinion that it was within the board's legal right to impose a license on this class of business.

The lighting question was brought up and legal advice sought in this respect. Atty. Runyard said that it was legal to tax business for this improvement for the maintenance of lights.

A. C. STOXEN COW IS TEST LEADER FOR JULY

Reports of the Cow Testing association of Kenosha county for the month of July as made public recently by Marshall T. Williams, the official tester, revealed that A. C. Stoxen was owner of the leading cow for the month of July.

WILMOT FAIR IS TO BE BIGGER, BETTER THAN EVER

Wilmot West Kenosha County Fair is rapidly getting into shape for the opening date, Sept. 20. The fair will run for three days this year. A very much improved show is promised by the committee in charge.

The opening day will be children's day, and the parade will be given over to the schools of the county for their floats. Friday will be the business men's pared, and Saturday the pared will consist of the blue ribbon winners of the stock exhibit.

Dinner will be served each day by the women's committee in the new gymnasium.

HOLIDAY CROWD FILL HOTELS TO CAPACITY

The Lake Regions summer season came to a close over the holiday with a bumper crowd.

Early Friday night the week end holiday crowd started to arrive by train and auto. The roads from the south showed a constant stream of cars all day Saturday and Sunday.

Every hotel in the district was filled to capacity early Saturday and by afternoon were turning guests away.

The two town hotels were filled early and the guests had to seek outside rooms in the private homes in the village.

The traffic on the road through town was very heavy and Marshal James was kept on the jump all day Saturday keeping it moving.

All told the season has been a fairly heavy one considering the road conditions.

SPEEDWAY TO HIGH SCHOOL IS OPENED

Again the High School boys have entered their high-powered flivvers, trucks, etc., in this year's handicap along the speedway from Lake street to the high school.

This is a practice that should be stopped at once before it is too late. Many of these boys are under the age limit for driving.

It might be interesting to them to know that the village mayor and trustees are sworn officials of the law and it might be of good judgment to stop when ordered to.

"Joey" Adamski Is Victim of Auto Crash with Train

Death followed in the wake of the county fair Sunday, and three North Chicago young people, all bound for Libertyville, gave up their lives on the St. Paul crossing on the Bulkeley road when their automobile was swept from the tracks by a limited train southbound.

Those who were killed were: Frances Salata, 15 years old, of 16th and Victoria streets.

Frank Serocki, 22 years old, of 23 Fellow place.

Joseph Adamski, 19 years old, of 12th and Victoria streets. He will be remembered by Antioch baseball fans as little "Joey", pitcher for North Chicago, having performed here this year and last year.

Serocki was the driver. Adamski was instantly killed. His mangled form was found dangling in the front part of the engine when they stopped the eleven coached passenger train a mile down the track.

Miss Salta and Serocki were found huddled near the wreckage of the car. Both were unconscious and apparently dead. The Wetzel and Peterson ambulance was called and they were rushed to the Victory Memorial hospital where they died on the operating table.

The body of Adamski was battered beyond recognition. The other two young people were also hard hit.

BOWLES HAS AUTO ACCIDENT MONDAY

An accident in which one was seriously injured occurred Monday night on the Antioch-Hickory road between Hickory Corners and Bean Hill, when an automobile driven by John P. Bowles of Antioch ran into the ditch. According to him he was forced too far to one side of the road by an approaching motorist and was unable to get back before he could avert going into the ditch.

WATCHMAN AT MERRICK CAMP AUTO VICTIM

Body Found in Ditch Early Saturday Morning By Workmen

LEWIS IS IN CUSTODY

John Wild, 50 years old, night watchman employed by the E. H. Merrick Construction company, near Lake Villa, was killed Friday night by a machine alleged to have been driven by "Dago" Frank Lewis, who has a summer home at Squaw Creek near Ingleside.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Lewis on a manslaughter charge. Another warrant for the arrest of "John Doe," manager of a garage at Lake Villa, was also sworn out. The garage man is alleged to have taken the car away at midnight.

The body of Wild was not found until 7 o'clock Saturday morning, employees of the Merrick Construction company finding the body in a ditch near the Otto Lehmann farm, about two miles from Lake Villa.

Wild, according to the story told to State's Attorney A. V. Smith, was struck by "Dago" Frank's machine at 10:35 o'clock.

The driver of the car is alleged to have been traveling at an exceedingly high rate of speed, going through a barricade on the Fox Lake-Lake Villa road near the Lehmann farm. The machine is said to have traveled 300 feet onto the new stretch of road after hitting the barricade, turning three somersaults. The driver miraculously escaped injury.

A machine driven by C. B. Dicks Jr. of Lake Villa, in which there were four passengers, was coming along a detour road at the time of the crash. Those in the car were Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Dicks, C. B. Dicks, Jr., Charles McFarland and John J. Mulvill, the latter an Oak Park man visiting at the Dicks home.

Mulvill told State's Attorney Smith that they heard a machine going west at a terrific rate of speed, the motor being heard a long distance away. He said the brakes of the car started to grate, it being apparent the driver was bringing his car to a sudden stop. The sky, a minute later was illuminated, he said, this being caused when the machine overturned.

Mulvill said he and members of the Dicks family hurried to the barricade road and found the overturned machine and a man who later gave his name as Lewis, pinned under the car. He was extricated from his perilous position and found to be uninjured.

Lewis, according to Mulvill, told him and Mr. Dicks that he was alone in the car and that no one was hit by his machine. He was taken to his summer cottage. He fainted twice on the way home, but when he arrived there he was all right.

RECEIVES BAD GASH IN FALL FROM HAY LOAD

Mr. Harris at the Golden farm east of town suffered a painful injury when he was thrown from a load of hay Tuesday.

He was on top of the load when the horses started suddenly, throwing him back of the load. A gash extended nearly the length of the top of his head is thought to have been caused by a pitchfork that he had in his hand. Dr. Beebe was called and 12 stitches were necessary to close the wound.

A. T. WHITE ELECTED HEAD OF LAKE COUNTY G. A. R.

At the business meeting of the G. A. R. held in Waukegan last Thursday, Andrew White of Grayslake was elected head of the Post for the ensuing year. Samuel Greenleaf of Waukegan was elected secretary.

Mr. White is one of the older men of the post, yet he is very active, in fact he still delights in boxing hats with some of the young fellows, and he can put hats on the grounds, too.

The reunion was not so well attended this year. In fact this event never is so well attended on the lake shore as it is when it is held in the rural section, taking the population into consideration.

Amateur Will Find Rheostat Easy to Make

The materials needed to make this rheostat are a composition dial, some resistance wire, a small strip of brass, and some screws and mica disc. Wind the resistance wire on a 3-16 inch rod; when the coil is wound on connect one end to the brass backing inside of the dial and cut the other end off about 1/4 inch from the set-screw that runs from the top of the dial to the bushing. Cut out a round piece of thick mica large enough so that the wire will fit tightly on it, and then groove the mica. Cut out a hole in the center of the disc so it will fit snugly over the bushing, and drill a hole the size of this set-screw parallel with the disc. Put the set-screw in and this will hold the disc on the dial. Punch two holes in the disc where the two ends come and connect one to the bushing. This serves as one contact and the other contact is made by the small brass strip that is fixed on the panel.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Seldschlag and Miss Seldschlag entertained the following at a week end party: Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Perkins, Albert Perkins, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. A. Jorgensen and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Perkins and Ethel Perkins of Kenosha; Mr. and Mrs. L. Seldschlag and children.

A. C. Stoxen is leaving next week on a trip to New York city to attend a meeting of the Representatives of the National Sales Agency for Dairy Products. Mr. Stoxen will also attend the National Dairy show at Syracuse, N. Y., and will return home by way of Washington, D. C.

Mrs. G. Lafaghan of Beardsley, Minn., was a guest for two days last week with Mrs. H. Seldschlag.

Wilmot school opened Monday last with an unusually good attendance. The faculty of the U. F. H. school will consist of Prin. R. Ihlenfeldt, A. Reschke, Edith Metcalf, Miss Post; the Wilmot grades, Miss Stallman and Miss Hope.

A bad accident occurred between the Wilmot bridges Monday afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bluel and their seven children were overturned in their Ford truck by being crowded off the turnpike by a large touring car. The children escaped with minor bruises. Mr. Bluel was badly cut and Mrs. Bluel injured internally.

Mr. Bluel and his family of Hamilton avenue, Chicago, and with L. L. Andelatz and family of Hamilton ave., Chicago, in their car were returning to the city after a week end spent at the lakes. Mr. Bluel's car was the first to meet the touring car that was entering the city and in passing were brushed over the edge. The occupants of the touring car did not stop to see what damage or injuries they had caused and in the excitement no one thought to take the number of the car. Deputy Sheriff Frazier was called but was unable to trace the car. Dr. H. Darby attended the injured and they were able to leave for Chicago at night.

Principal and Mrs. R. Ihlenfeldt spent Wednesday night as the guests of Miss Lida Jamison at Appleton. Miss Jamison is preparing to enter Wisconsin university this fall.

Mr. Eggert, registrar of deeds of Manitowoc county, Mrs. Eggert and sons Floyd and Lee Eggert were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Ihlenfeldt the last of the week. Monday the Ihlenfeldts accompanied their guests to Milwaukee, where they left for Manitowoc.

CHAPTER XVI

Bonita.

Having exhausted all the resources of the mountain, such that had interest for them, Madeline's guests settled quietly down for a rest, which Madeline knew would soon end in a desire for civilized comforts. They were almost tired of roughing it. Helen's discontent manifested itself in her remark, "I guess nothing is going to happen, after all."

Madeline awaited their pleasure in regard to the breaking of camp; and meanwhile, as none of them cared for more exertion, she took her walks without them, sometimes accompanied by one of the cowboys, always by the stag-hounds. One day, while walking alone, before she realized it she had gone a long way down a dim trail winding among the rocks. It was the middle of a summer afternoon, and all about her were shadows of the crags crossing the sunlit patches. The quiet was undisturbed. She went on and on, not blind to the fact that she was perhaps going too far from camp, but risking it because she was sure of her way back, and enjoying the wild, craggy recesses that were new to her. Finally she came out upon a bank that broke abruptly into a beautiful little place. Here she sat down to rest before undertaking the return trip.

Suddenly Russ, the keeper of the stag-hounds, raised his head and growled. Madeline feared he might have scented a mountain-lion or wildcat. She quieted him and carefully looked around. The little glade was open and grassy, with here a pine tree, there a boulder. The outlet seemed to go down into a wilderness of canyons and ridges. Looking in this direction, Madeline saw the slight, dark figure of a woman coming stealthily along under the pines. Madeline was amazed, then a little frightened, for that stealthy walk from tree to tree was suggestive of secrecy, if nothing worse.

Presently the woman was joined by a tall man who carried a package, which he gave to her. They came on up the glade and appeared to be talking earnestly. In another moment Madeline recognized Stewart. She had no greater feeling of surprise than had at first been hers. But for the next moment she scarcely thought at all—merely watched the couple approaching. In a flash came back her former curiosity as to Stewart's strange absences from camp, and then with the return of her doubt of him the recognition of the woman. The small, dark head, the brown face, the big eyes—Madeline now saw distinctly—belonged to the Mexican girl Bonita. Stewart had met her there. This was the secret of his lonely trips, taken ever since he had come to work for Madeline. This secluded glade was a rendezvous. He had her hidden there.

Quietly Madeline arose, with a gesture to the dogs, and went back along the trail toward camp. Succeeding her surprise was a feeling of sorrow that Stewart's regeneration had not been complete. Sorrow gave place to insufferable distrust that while she had been romancing about this cowboy, dreaming of her good influence over him, he had been merely base. Somehow it stung her. Stewart had been nothing to her, she thought, yet she had been proud of him. She tried to revolve the thing, to be fair to him, when every instinctive tendency was to expel him, and all pertaining to him, from her thoughts. And her effort at sympathy, at extenuation, failed utterly before her pride. Exerting her will-power, she dismissed Stewart from her mind.

Madeline did not think of him again till late that afternoon, when, as she was leaving her tent to join several of her guests, Stewart appeared suddenly in her path.

"Miss Hammond, I saw your tracks down the trail," he began, eagerly, but his tone was easy and natural. "I'm thinking—well, maybe you sure got the idea—"

"I do not wish for an explanation," interrupted Madeline.

Stewart gave a slight start. His manner had a semblance of the old, cool audacity. As he looked down at her it subtly changed.

What effrontery, Madeline thought, to face her before her guests with an explanation of his conduct! Suddenly she felt an inward flash of fire that was pain, so strange, so incomprehensible, that her mind whirled. Then anger possessed her, not at Stewart, but at herself, that anything could rouse in her a raw emotion. He stood there, outwardly cool, serene, with level, haughty eyes upon Stewart; but inwardly she was burning with rage and shame.

"I'm sure not going to have you think—" He began passionately, but he broke off, and a slow, dull crimson blotted over the healthy red-brown of his neck and cheeks.

"What You Do or Think, Stewart, is No Concern of Mine."

"What you do or think, Stewart, is no concern of mine."

"Miss—Miss Hammond! You don't believe—"

The crimson receded from his face, leaving it pale. His eyes were appealing. They had a kind of timid look that struck Madeline even in her anger. There was something boyish about him then. He took a step forward and reached out with his hand open-palmed in a gesture that was humble, yet held a certain dignity.

"But listen. Never mind now what you—think about me. There's a good reason—"

"I have no wish to hear your reason."

"But you ought," he persisted.

"Sir!"

Stewart underwent another swift change. He started violently. A dark tide shaded his face and a glitter leaped to his eyes. He took two strides—loomed over her.

"I'm not thinking about myself," he thundered. "Will you listen?"

"No," she replied; and there was freezing hauteur in her voice. With a slight gesture of dismissal, unmistakable in its finality, she turned her back upon him. Then she joined her guests.

Stewart stood perfectly motionless. Then slowly he began to lift his right hand in which he held his sombrero. He swept it up and up, high over his head. His tall form towered. With fierce suddenness he flung his sombrero down. He leaped at his black horse and dragged him to where his saddle lay. With one pitch he tossed the saddle upon the horse's back. His strong hand flashed at girths and straps. Every action was swift, decisive, fierce. Bounding for his bridle, which hung over a bush, he ran against a cowboy who awkwardly tried to avoid the onslaught.

"Get out of my way!" he yelled.

Then with the same savage haste he adjusted the bridle on his horse.

"Mebbe you better hold on a minute, Gene, ole feller," said Monty Price.

"Monty, do you want me to brain you?" said Stewart, with the short, hard ring in his voice.

"Now, consider! the high class of my brains, I oughter be real careful to keep 'em," replied Monty. "You can better life, Gene, I ain't goin' to git in front of you. But I jest says—Listen!"

Stewart raised his dark face. Everybody listened. And everybody heard the rapid beat of a horse's hoofs. The sun had set, but the park was light. Nels appeared down the trail, and his horse was running. In another moment he was in the circle, pulling his bay back to a sliding halt. He leaped off abreast of Stewart.

Madeline saw and felt a difference in Nels' presence.

"What's up, Gene?" he queried, sharply.

Nels' long arm shot out, and his hand fell upon Stewart, holding him down.

"Shore I'm sorry," said Nels, slowly. "Then you was goin' to hit the trail?"

"I am going to. Let go, Nels."

"Shore you ain't goin', Gene?"

"Let go, d—n you!" cried Stewart, as he wrestled free.

"What's wrong?" asked Nels, lifting his hand again.

"Mann! Don't touch me!"

Nels stepped back instantly. He seemed to become aware of Stewart's white, wild passion. Again Stewart moved to mount.

"Nels, don't make me forget we've been friends," he said.

"Shore I ain't forgettin'," replied

Nels. "An' I resign my job right here an' now!"

His strange speech checked the mounting cowboy. Stewart stepped down from the stirrup. Then their hard faces were still and cold while their eyes locked glances.

Madeline was as much startled by Nels' speech as Stewart. Quick to note a change in these men, she now sensed one that was unfathomable.

"Resign?" questioned Stewart.

"Shore. What'd you think I'd do under circumstances such as has come up?"

"But see here, Nels, I won't stand for it."

"You're not my boss no more, an' I ain't beholdin' to Miss Hammond, neither. I'm my own boss, an' I'll do as I please. Sabe, senor?"

Nels' words were at variance with the meaning in his face.

"Gene, you sent me on a little scout down in the mountains, didn't you?"

"Yes, I did," replied Stewart, with a new sharpness in his voice.

"Wal, shore you was so good an' right in your fingerin', as opposed to mine, that I'm sick with admirin' of you. If you hadn't sent me—wal, I'm reckonin' somethin' might hev happened. As it is we're shore up against a hell of a proposition!"

How significant was the effect of his words upon all the cowboys! Stewart made a fierce and violent motion, terrible where his other motions had been but passionate. Monty leaped straight up into the air in a singular action as suggestive of surprise as it was of wild acceptance of menace. Like a stalking giant Nick Steele strode over to Nels and Stewart. The other cowboys rose silently, without a word.

Madeline and her guests, in a little group, watched and listened, unable to divine what all this strange talk and action meant.

"Hold on, Nels, they don't need to hear it," said Stewart, hoarsely, as he waved a hand toward Madeline's silent group.

"Wal, I'm sorry, but I reckon they'd as well know fust as last. Mebbe the yearnin' wish of Miss Helen's fer somethin' to happen will come true. Shore I—"

"Cut out the joshin'," rang out Monty's strident voice.

It had as decided an effect as any preceding words or action. Perhaps it was the last thing needed to transform these men, doing unaccustomed duty as escorts of beautiful women, to their natural state as men of the wild.

"Tell us what's what," said Stewart, cool and grim.

"Don Carlos an' his guerrillas are campin' on the trails that lead up here. They've got them trails blocked. By tomorrow they'll hed us corralled. Mebbe they meant to surprise us. He's got a lot of Greasers an' outlaws. They're well armed. Now, what do they mean? You-all can figger it out to suit yourselves. Mebbe the Don wants to pay a sociable call on our ladies. Mebbe his gang is some hungry, as usual. Mebbe they want to steal a few horses, or anythin' they can lay hands on. Mebbe they mean vuss, too. Now, my idea is this, an' mebbe it's wrong. I long since separated from love with Greasers. They black-faced Don Carlos has got a deep game. They two-bit of a revolution is leavin' hard times. The rebels want American intervention. They'd stretch any point to make trouble. We're only ten miles from the border. Suppose them guerrillas got our crowd across that border? The United States cavalry would follow. You-all know what they'd mean. Mebbe Don Carlos' mind works that way. Mebbe it don't. I reckon we'll know soon. An' now, Stewart, whatever the Don's game is, shore you're the man to outfigger him. Mebbe it's just as well you're good an' mad about somethin'." An' I'm going to resign my job because I want to feel unholdin' to anybody. Shore it struck me long since that the old days hed come back for a little spell, an' there I was trillin' a promise not to hurt any Greaser."

The Pony Express

SPEEDING westward from St. Joseph, Mo., and eastward from Sacramento, Cal., relays of riders are now retracing the trail of the Pony Express, in an effort to break the old record.

The real riders of a half century ago set a record of 9 days and 23 hours. Through blizzards and sandstorms, over mountains and deserts, among hostile Indians, the express riders of 1860-61 carried messages vital to the nation.

In the sixteen months before the rails were laid, they traveled a total of 650,000 miles with the loss of but a single pouch of mail. They made a superb record for fidelity in public service.

Other means of communication have supplanted the Pony Express. The telephone lines of the Bell System span the continent. Communication from coast to coast takes but the fraction of a second.

The Pony Express lives only in memory, reawakened to-day by the hoof beats of ponies along the winding trail.

But the spirit of devotion of its riders lives in the men and women who carry on our nationwide telephone service.

Culling the non-producers

Several things must be kept in mind when one is to pick fowls for high egg production. It does not pay to threaten the hens with the "An egg a day, keeps the hatchet away" policy. It is much better to pick a pullet that has the qualities to lay and then give her a chance to prove that she is no bluff.

Above all, we must have a healthy bird. No one will ever expect a dull-eyed, inactive, rough-looking pullet to lay. She must be vigorous and minus physical defects.

Type indicates the degree of intensity with which a bird can lay. A hen of good type must possess a flat and wide back; the breast should be full and deep; the neck short and well set; the legs of moderate length. The head should be fine with large, bold eyes set in oval eye sockets. Long narrow feathers indicate a late maturing bird. Narrow loose feathers usually make a bird look large. Never get confused—always measure the actual depth and plumpness by grasping the fowl around the body, placing the thumbs together at the top and the fingers together along the keel bone. The underline should be horizontal and fairly deep. A hen of the above type has a large capacity for feed, and feed is essential for a high record.

Some people pick heavy layers entirely according to the pelvic measurements of the fowl. A laying hen has a dilated abdomen so that the pelvic arch is widespread and the keel is forced down away from the pelvic arch. Ordinarily one or two fingers can be placed between the two sharp points of the pelvic bones, but if a hen is laying the points may spread until one may place four or more fingers between them.

The ear lobes, wattles and comb of a laying fowl are large, full, and waxy. If the comb is warm the bird will lay soon. These organs vary with the activities of the ovaries.

A laying hen uses up surplus fat, especially from the skin. A breed of a yellow skin, if laying heavily, will have a white skin or at least less yellow than the non-layer. The color of the vent changes first.

The inner edges of the eyelids bleach out a trifle slower than the vent. The ear lobes of Leghorns and Anconas bleach out slower than the eyelids. The beak and shanks also bleach out later.

The yellow color returns in the same order as it went away but much quicker. It is during this return of color that the hens usually rest.

When a hen stops laying in the summer she usually starts molting. The later a hen lay in the summer the longer her production period, so the late molting bird is the best producer. The October or even November molters are the best layers.

A low producer is shy and can be seen on the edge of a flock. It usually squawks when caught.

Cull your flock before you go into winter quarters. It is too expensive to feed and house a non-producer. Use the hatchet now.

WILL WOODIN FIGHTS FIRE WITH MILK

Using milk as a fire extinguisher, W. I. Woodin, president of the Libertyville Fair association, Saturday night saved a farmer's home from being burned at Phillips' corner, between Libertyville and Area. The fire developed at 7:30 in a hay loft in a barn on the Jay Truly farm, which is leased by A. Bredenberg. The flames spread rapidly to other outbuildings, and by the time Mr. Woodin, whose home is a short distance away, reached the scene, the roof of the farm house was burning.

No water being available, Mr. Woodin seized buckets of milk from the dairy and climbing a ladder he poured the contents on the burning shingles. In the meanwhile, Lawrence Lynch, head of the electrical department of Marshall Field & Co., a guest at the Woodin home, assisted in saving live stock. All of the animals were rescued. The loss to the barns and their contents was estimated at $15,000.

Mr. Frudy carried insurance on the buildings but the occupant had the grain and other contents of the barn and out buildings only partly insured and therefore the latter's loss was heavy.

Notice to Stockholders:

PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS

ADDITIONAL ISSUE OF COMMON STOCK

This additional issue of 52,980 shares of Common Stock, without par value, is offered to stockholders of record August 20, 1923, at $94 per share, in the ratio of 20 per cent of their holdings of both Common and Preferred Stock. The present market price is about 101½. This stock is on a parity in all respects with the present outstanding Common Stock. The present dividend rate is $7 per share per annum. The privilege of subscription to this stock expires September 15, 1923.

BUSINESS AND TERRITORY. The Company is one of the largest utilities supplying electricity and gas in the United States. The territory served embraces 6000 square miles, including 180 cities, towns and smaller communities of the most prosperous and rapidly growing section of Northern Illinois. Statistics compiled for the Metropolitan Planning Conference show that, during the last decade, the population in the territory outside Chicago, and within ten miles of the city limits, the very heart of the territory served by the Company, increased more than three times faster than that of Chicago itself.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The proceeds from the present issue will provide funds for plant extensions necessary to enable the Company to meet the requirements of a constant increase in business. A steam turbine generating plant is under construction at Waukegan, Illinois, and, when completed, will be among the largest in the world. Another important development, necessitated by constantly increasing demands for electrical power, is a large addition to the Company's generating station at Joliet, the capacity of which is being more than doubled.

SUBSCRIPTION PRIVILEGES: To provide for the steady increase in business, the Company is constantly increasing its plant and distribution facilities. The present right of stockholders to subscribe for shares of this issue at $94 is one of the opportunities afforded them, from time to time, to increase their holdings at prices considerably under the market.

DIVIDEND RECORD: The recent dividend, paid on August 1, 1923, was the 47th consecutive quarterly payment paid by the Company to its common and preferred stockholders. Taking also into consideration the 39 dividend payments made by one of its predecessor companies, a total of 86 consecutive dividends has been paid over a continuous period of 21 years.

Stockholders now holding subscription warrants are invited to make use of the facilities of the Company's offices named below in making their subscriptions. These offices are equipped to supply additional warrants at current market prices to subscribers who desire to add to their subscription rights, or to purchase warrants from those desiring to sell them.

ANNA RINGHMAN SHOTLIFF

Anna Ringhman Shotliff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kingham was born on Sept. 20, 1860, on her father's farm at South Bristol, where she spent her girlhood years. She was married to John Shotliff March 25, 1891, after living on the farm for about 5 years they moved to Bristol, where she lived until her death on Sept. 1, 1923, at the age of 62 years, 11 months and 12 days.

Mrs. Shotliff was an active and devoted member of the Methodist church here. She was treasurer of the Ladies Aid society for 27 years as long as her health permitted and she cheerfully gave of time, strength and means for the upbuilding of Christ's Kingdom in the community and even when her condition made it impossible for her to attend church services she maintained an active interest in the Lord's work and did what she could for its furtherance. She suffered intensely for a long time but never complained. In spite of the hard cross of suffering she remained sweet and cheerful. She is survived by her husband, J. W. Shotliff, her daughter, Mrs. Genevieve Bryant, her grandchild Carol, one sister, Mrs. Mary Bishop, four nieces and one nephew besides many friends who will sorely miss her and to whom her memory is precious and full of encouragement for the Christian living, many friends gathered for the last rites and followed her remains to Hosmer cemetery, where she was laid to rest by the side of her parents. Her faithful and devoted nurse, Mrs. Ruth Van Patten who has been with them for the past eight months and seems like one of the family will remain with the bereaved friends for a few days, before she returns to her home in Antioch.

Methodist Episcopal Church News

The coming Sunday morning will be communion service at 10:45. All members of the church are expected to be present to take the communion, as Christ has commanded, unless prevented by something beyond their control. All other Christians, of all ages, are cordially invited.

A week from the coming Sunday morning will be baptism and reception of members. All desiring baptism should come at that time, and all parents desiring their children, of any age, baptized should bring them then. All Christians not already having active membership in some church here are invited to unite. No Christian should be an "outsider." Every one should be a member of some working church where he lives. That is the universally recognized principle of Christian efficiency among all church leaders of all denominations. The official board requests that all finances be brought up to date at once as far as possible. The books should be closed by Sept. 17.

Last Sunday morning the sermon was given to emphasizing that the way to win the people to Christ is to give them the great facts of Christianity. Briefly, the points were:

There have been many periods of great revival in history, when the unseen forces of the Spirit world reach out and grip the hearts of the people so that they turn to God in multitudes. Some are saying the days of revivals are past. They have been past a good many times in the history of the world, but, thank God, they always come back—and they always will. God has not forsaken the world. The human heart is as capable of being greatly moved by the power of God's Spirit as it ever was.

What is needed is that the Christian people in general shall get to thinking deeply and intensely and continuously on the great facts of religion. When they do, they will see and feel the reality of heaven with its resplendent glory and be smitten with the terror of the awful reality of hell with its unmeasured agony of unending doom, and they will see every man headed for one place or the other, they will be pleading with God for the lost, and with the lost that they turn to God. Thus, and only thus will the great revival come to America.
